

Abstract (in English):

The topic of civil service is very actual. One of its interesting parts is the required training of officers. The first part of this bachelor thesis is focused on state officers and their required education in the period of so called first republic. The rest of the thesis focuses on required education of officers in present. The main sources of this work are written sources from public archives and both current and historical laws, especially law from year 1926 number 103/1926 and law about civil service n. 234/2014.
