

Abstract

This thesis contains theoretical facts about communication of teachers with parents. The thesis is focused on effective cooperation between school and parents. Defines actual forms and other possible forms of communication at primary school. Provides different ways of involving parents in school activities. The aim of this thesis is to find out which measures can teachers use in communication with parents for successful educational and personal development of pupils. Practical part of the thesis is aimed at effective leading of tripartite meetings. Conclusion of thesis contains advices for effective leading of tripartite meetings. These advices were formulated according to results of interviews with experienced and starting teachers from primary schools.

Key words:

Communication, school, teacher, parent, pupil, forms of cooperation, tripartite meetings