

There are introduced thoughts of main representatives of bodyoriented psychotherapy in this masters thesis. This work deals with theory of formation of defense characterological structures. There is described the diagnostic method and also specific character types. Kvantitative research had been realized and it was focused on investigation of bodyoriented therapists. Main research question dealt with practical application of concept of defense characterological structures in psychotherapy.