

Abstract: The work is focused on publications related to the ambient air pollution. Specialized publication were drawn from The Science Daily website in one year period from April 2017 to April 2018. The're focused on several key topics such as greenhouse gases, air pollution, climate change, renewable energy and so on. The primary objective of this work is familiarize readers with actual topics and new progresiv studyies and posible technological breakthroughs that could help reduce the impact of air pollution and climate change.

Key words: Greenhouse Gases, Climate Change, Air Pollution, Climate Models, Renewable Energy
Sources