

Abstract

The work tries to contribute to the theme of the First Republic regional press; with greater emphasis on printing in the region Cernokostelecka and especially focusing on Pruboj weekly (1929-1939). In the first part is defined Cernokostelecko, both in terms of territorial, demographic and historical. The second part deals with the development of the regional press and related legislation and censorship issues, the third is an overview of the press in the area, pointing to regional printers, publishers and personalities. The main part of the thesis is the newspaper Pruboj (complete); the periodical is characterized by aspect content, authorship, graphic or language; also censorship cases are described. In this part is also the first and complete biography of Frantisek Simáček, editor of Pruboj.