

This paper describes the installation and use of created program as well as technics for sound generating (additive and FM synthesis) and options affecting the result sound. It contains that part of MIDI standard which is used in the program and a small part of its history, too. Finally, it summarizes problems which appeared during creating of the program.