

The bachelor thesis describes design and implementation of database schema documentation generator. It uses Schemagic application to create wellarranged documentation in user-defined output format. Schemagic is used to load information about schema into a XML document. For output documentation HTML, PDF, Postscript, RTF, DocBook and FO (XML file of formating objects) formats are supported. The Gendok application also generates some graphic information, e.g. graphs of dependencies between tables.