

Abstract

The diploma thesis deals with the territorial, cultural and historical development of Hřebený area with the emphasis on history of Zbraslav. Hřebený extends southwest from Prague to Brdy and so creates imaginary center of the study area. The study area is surrounded by Vltava and Berounka rivers, important marks on the map are Zbraslav and the island on the confluence of Sázava and Vltava rivers, where the Benedictine monastery was located. Its relics remain us of its past glory. The aim of this thesis is to follow up on the author's previous research and to bring a synthetic view on history of Zbraslav in Middle-Ages.
