

Abstract

The bachelor thesis Media image of Catalan crisis in Czech Republic is focused on media coverage of events related to the Catalan independence referendum in autumn 2017. Specifically, it focuses on the period of its second half, while the subject of the analysis is a sample of 301 articles published by iDNES.cz, iROZHLAS.cz and Parlamentní listy. The research is based on quantitative content analysis theory, which studies how much the selected media informed about the Catalan crisis and how this space changed over time. It was also interested in the thematic context of the event and which personalities were most mentioned in connection with the topic. For a more detailed analysis of space given to the individual parties of the conflict, the quotes published by each medium were also analyzed. The last part of the analysis consists of the mentioned reasons of growing Catalan emancipation and the Catalan crisis in general.
