

Annotation

The bachelor thesis focuses on satisfaction recognition of women's urinary incontinence treatment. First it familiarizes with anatomy and physiology of women's lower urinary system, urinary incontinence as a term itself, its treatment methods and precaution possibilities. The role of nurses caring about women suffering from urinary incontinence is also meant.

Via the questionnaire survey women treated for urinary incontinence are asked to subjectively describe their life improvement and satisfaction with the disease treatment. All respondents are women being treated conservatively at the uro-gynaecology outpatient clinic and women having been operated in the hospital gynaecological ward.