

Annotation

The bachelor's thesis deals with education's activities in the operation gynecology. It refers to the right to be informed which is one of the basic needs of people, and the necessity to make all women share the responsibility of their health. It places emphasis on activities of the physicians, but primarily on the activities of the nurses/midwives in their roles as educators, and it places emphasis on respecting female patients as individual human beings.

The goal of the bachelor's thesis is research on the gynecological ward in the Regional Hospital in Pardubice. The research's goal is to assess the extent and needs of education in the pre- and post-operative periods for hospitalized women who undergo a serious gynecological surgery.
