

This thesis deals with the topic how the population is informed about emergency occurrences. Nowadays, this issue is very topical because the emergency cases form an important part of people's life. The aim of the thesis is to summarize common observations about the emergency cases and to outline individual proceeding at the creation of the emergency cases.

The aim of the experiential part of my work is to map the attitudes and informedness of the population in the Šumperk district referring to this issue and to confirm or disprove given hypothesis.