

This thesis focuses on public commercial research on the field of commercial researches on public. MediaProjekt has been chosen to represent these projects due to its length and official character for print and broadcast media and its most significant position among other similarly conceived researches of public behaviour.