

The purpose of this diploma thesis is to examine and compare the manner in which four leading Czech magazines (Tyden, Respekt, Reflex and Instinkt) cover and depict the phenomenon of terrorism. As an example of such an event, we decided to focus on the London bombing attacks that hit the city's municipal transport in the month of July 2005 and which represent one of the most dramatic international events of recent years.