

Abstract:

Present work deals with the conceptual metaphor in Spanish taking into consideration also the Czech language. This phenomenon is described from various points of view. The conceptual metaphor is defined and given in the context of cognitive linguistics. Metonymy is also analyzed together with its relation to the metaphor and the role of these in grammatical system is described. In case study we analyze the conceptualization of anger emotion and examine associated metaphors.