

Abstract

Title: Analysis of floods in the Moravian-Silesian Region

Objectives: To compare and evaluate floods in the Moravian-Silesian Region in 1997, 2009 and 2010.

Methods: Analysis and analysis of acquired information focused on the issue of emergencies with a focus on floods.

Result: The adoption of crisis laws has significantly improved results. There was a significant improvement in all examined parts. Flood damage, whether property or casualties, has been reduced.

Key words: integrated rescue system, emergency, floods, analysis, crisis laws