This work studies a linear agorithm which decides if a given word is a fixed point of any nontrivial morphism. This work also contains a description of auxiliary data structures which are crucial for linear time complexity of the algorithm. A Java implementation of the algorithm is provided along with a step-by-step visualization for particular input words.