

My diploma work concerns the evaluation of educational projects submitted for financial support from European funds. It includes the description of related processes and highlights the importance of financial support for education, benefiting the growth of society.

The aim of this submission is to align the processes of specialists in the field of human resources development focused on evaluation of submitted projects. The results of their evaluations have great influence in the selection of valuable educational projects which are to be receive financial support and the chance to be realized. To this end, the quality of the evaluation process has a direct effect on the realization of the right quality of development human resources in the Czech Republic.

I have chosen this topic of my diploma work due to the topicality and importance to support the whole society through the development of human resources. My diploma work systematically summarize all aspects of the mentioned process and helps to clarify the way how to realize projects under the current conditions.