

The main of this document is the comparison of systems of alternative family care in Czech republic and in one of the autonomy regions in Spain, Galicia. The document processed it with a view to the institutional care and its character is established as on the theoretical as the empirical base. The first part of it processed theoretical basis thereof, overview of relevant responsible institutions, its historical context and legislative base. This document is also engaged in characterization of particular specializations and professions entering the relevant appraising process and subsequent care in the scope of system of social and legal protection of children. This is made in connection with the executed comparison of the relevant intervention of the responsible institutional. On the base of obtained informations the main differences of systems of protection of threatened children in cz and galicia are stated therein. In the chapter concerning the statistic data there is relevant comparison of number of children in cr, spain, galicia included. The second Part concerns analysis of one significant difference concerning the compared systems which is total absence of any diagnostic institution in the scope of system of institutional care of G and such analysis is based mainly on the made of empirical study. All the relevant data was from responsible czech and Spanish respondent obtained via internet questionnaire mainly in relation to the opinion of such respondents concerning the importance and function of such institution in institutional care system. Finally , such provided study results in outcome providing us with quiet identical opinion of inquired czech and spanish specialists.