

The aim of this project is to design and to create an application for evaluating and administration of programming competitions. Application should be designed to be used in programming contests and for evaluating homework from lessons of programming as well. After look into existing solutions it is needed to design system that will contain a comfortable user interface for administration of application and interface for contestants. The system should evaluate solutions enough rightly and evaluating should be resistant against fake solutions.