

Abstract (in English):

The topic of the bachelor thesis is a tertiary education of deaf students. Its aim is to map the conditions of university studies for deaf students in selected European countries (Bulgaria, Ireland, Iceland, Poland, Russia and Sweden) and to compare it with the current situation in the Czech Republic. Attention is paid to relevant legal and procedural documents, financial support for universities to create conditions suitable for the studies of deaf students, specific "support measures" and the organization of their provision. This is an overview thesis, focusing on nationwide (standardized) procedures, not a thesis providing case studies describing the situation of specific students in specific schools. Information about the situation in selected European countries was obtained mainly through an electronic questionnaire survey among "national respondents" active in the university environment in the field of so-called Deaf Studies.
