

Annotation

The bachelor work attends the means of nursing the patients with acetabular fracture at The Orthopaedic Clinic of IPVZ and 1. LF UK in The Faculty Hospital Na Bulovce. It describes acetabular anatomy, pathogenesis and classification of this fracture, ways of treatment, nursing procedures by patients with this diagnosis, hygiene, extension types, prevention of complications due to long confinement to bed, psyche of patients, preoperative and postoperative care.

The centrepiece of the work is constituted by a survey investigation to compare the ways and fastidiousness of nursing these patients in 22 medical facilities in the Czech Republic. Most respondents were nurses with specialization in function of ward nurse or head nurse with long time praxis.