

The work contains theoretical foundations regarding the class environment and pupil's position in the class. The practical part is based on the sociometric research of pupil's position evolution, first in fourth grade and afterward in ninth grade of basic school. Additional research investigates positive and negative characteristics of children in the same age.