

Abstract:

This bachelor thesis deals with problematics of supervision in direct care employees in elderly houses. Theoretical part serve for clarification term supervision in historical point of view, legislative basis and definition of supervision. Furthermore, in theoretical part are described specifications of direct care including related ricks. Concurrently deal with specifications of supervision with direct care employees. The research part describe questionnaire survey managers in direct care in elderly houses and try to find out their personal experience and attitude.