

The final bachelor work is supposed to conduce to identify processes related to introduction of beginning teachers to work. It should help the management of the school to improve leadership and choice of the right initiatory pedagogue, whose skills are essential for integration of a new colleague in to the school environment and acquirement of necessary competence.