

Abstract

The diploma thesis, in its theoretical part, focuses on reading development, family environment in connection with reading and other factors, which influence reading. A list of other researches – foreign and Czech, which deal with adolescent reading – was also created. The aim of the work was to find out how the family environment and other factors affect the reading of adolescents. In practical part of this diploma thesis, the research of influence of family environment and other factors on reading of adolescents was made. The methods of questionnaire, focus group and individual qualitative interviews were used.

Keywords

Adolescents, reading, family, influence of family environment, factors influencing reading