

Aspects of the environment protection within the process of exploitation of the exclusive minerals

Abstract

My diploma thesis addresses the question how the aspect of the environment protection is reflected in the mineral exploitation authorisation process. This study is focussed on the analysis of the mining law system. Based on the findings the modification of the relevant legislation is presented in order to emphasise the environmental dimension.

Key words: Mining law, environmental law, exclusive minerals.