

The transformation of social services is a current topic. Social services in context of their social change are the topic of this dissertation. The theoretical part of the thesis focuses on social services in wider context of social politics and social help as a basic background of providing social services. Furthermore, you can find here roles of individual subjects and objects of social services. The course of social services transformation is described in the chapter which characterises the aims and main changes of the new social services. The chapter describing the planning of social services introduces the research. The theoretical part leads to the summary of the theoretical analysis.

Empirical research is introduced by the characteristics of the region, i.e. Hradec Kralove. The research itself deals with the analysis of the current state of social services planning in selected municipalities of Hradec Kralove region. We have chosen two research strategies: quantitative and qualitative, the latter is an integral part of the research.

The aim of the dissertation is the analysis of the social services planning in the municipalities of Hradec Kralove region. We are trying to find the influences of future and social services planning and also what strategies are used by the municipalities.