

The aim of the bachelor work is to find the most suitable programme of European Social Fund for the project of sheltered housing service at Vlčkovice farm. The farm is located in Vlčkovice village in Middle Bohemian region. The work should describe a suitable EU programme and prove the eligibility of the chosen programme for the intention of sheltered housing project. The work also deals with the readiness of the project to raise money from the Human Resource and Employment Operational Programme of European Social Fund. This programme is the most compatible with the project of sheltered housing service at Vlčkovice farm. The practical part of the work is focused on the risks and obstacles which could obstruct raising money from the European programme. The work should lead to the statement confirming the propriety of the programme for funding of the project of sheltered housing service and also the readiness of the project.