

The paper describes verbal morphology in transitional dialect of romani from Krásnohorské Podhradie, Slovakia. The data for analysis were elicited. The dialect is compared with published descriptions of south-central and north-central romani for determination its dialectological classification.