

ABSTRACT

This bachelor's thesis aims to translate a part of the fifth chapter (The Road from Home) from Dr. Nana Oishi's book Women in Motion, published by Stanford University Press in 2005. The translation is followed by the analysis of the original text, description of the selected translation method, typology of translation problems and typology of translation shifts.