

Abstract (AJ): The topic of this diploma thesis is the strategic management of human resources in a selected company. The theoretical part is focusing on areas including strategic human resource management and individual HR activities. The practical part introduces the company, its human resource management strategy, evaluation of the current situation and suggestions for improving HR activities.