

Abstract

This bachelor thesis provides a translation of a selected chapter from From Here to Eternity: Travelling the World to Find the Good Death (W. W. Norton & Company, 2017) by Caitlin Doughty. This book, focused on undertaking and funeral practices, describes different cultural traditions from all around the world. The second part of the thesis contains commentary on the translation, including the original text analysis, translation method, translation problems and their solution.

Key words

translation, translation analysis, translation problem, translation shift, translation method, death, funeral, undertaking, body farm