Course of defence: The student presented (online) her thesis "Measuring Welfare Effects of the US-China Trade War Using General Equilibrium Models" in a fairly clear and structured way. Afterwards the questions raised in the reports were addressed and discussed, especially contribution of the thesis. The topic seems quite well researched, not only by researchers but also by governments and other stakeholders as it is an important policy issue. Kim introduced and applied new scenario and was able to explain and defend her views on this nicely.
