

The theme of this dissertation is social and physical environment of classrooms and schools. The theoretical part characterizes the educational environment and briefly describes psychosocial climate investigation methods at elementary schools. The practical part explores actual social climate using standardized questionnaire "My class Inventory - Actual form" and physical climate using author's original questionnaire, evaluating acquired results.