

The aim of this diploma thesis is to acquaint the reader with the personality and piano works of Leoš Janáček. It is especially directed at interpretation specificity of piano works by Janáček. Not only experienced pianists but also teachers and students of various degrees and types of music schools are faced with this problem. For this reason I tried to outline my thesis so that pieces of knowledge contained in it could be applied in the practice as much as possible.