

The dissertation Softball at Junior Years of Primary School focuses on Softball classes as a part of Physical Education at primary schools. The practical part consists of the research and its results. The children's and teachers' knowledge of this sport was surveyed by questionnaires. Furthermore, it describes a Softball teaching method which was verified with the fifth grade pupils.

The theoretical part includes the basic information about softball, its rules and required skills as well as necessary training exercises.