

The subject of this thesis is "the demonstrations of aggressiveness among the older school age pupils." Nowadays, the topic of aggressiveness among the older school age pupils is very hot. In the theoretical part of my thesis, I will analyse the general issue of aggressiveness. I will focus on the particular concepts determination and definition. I am especially interested in the reasons causing the demonstrations of aggressiveness, the influence of environment and the development aspects of the older school age pupils. The intent of the practical part is to find out by virtue of an investigation questionnaire how the older school age pupils perceive the demonstrations of aggressiveness in their surroundings and what personal experience concerning aggressive behaviour they have. The output of this essay will be an assessment of the degree of investigated aggressiveness among the older school age pupils at selected schools and a suggestion on how to improve the existing situation.
