

The final bachelor work contents the analysis of the subject department's activity at the elementary and secondary schools in the Czech Republic. The work studies competences and roles of the subject department's leadership. Leaders of these teams are members of the school management. The top management can delegate leadership competences to these teachers.

The research part analyses the subject department during realisation and planning of school curriculum at elementary and secondary schools.

The research describes the methodical help for directors schools, their deputies and the leaders of subject teams which is possible to use during the directorial work. It also simplifies the systematical control, evaluation and selfevaluation of pedagogical staff in their subject teams.