

In my thesis I tried to map the younger school age, relationship of children to physical activities and the inclusion of these activities in the weekly mode. Work has two parts: theoretical and experimental. In the research part is a questionnaire to find out the attitude of children to movement.