

In this thesis Prognostic factors of early recurrence of colorectal liver metastases after surgical therapy the author characterizes the epidemiology, diagnostics and treatment of colorectal liver metastases (CLM) in relation to biological activity of tumour and the possibilities of determination. Contemporary the author introduces to problematics of tumour markers, which determine CLM and to clinical prognostic factors of CLM.