

This thesis evaluates the results of the „Czechkid“ Project, which aimed to intensify multicultural education in Czech state primary (and secondary) schools and thus make it more effective. The specific implementation in schools of the recommendations of the Ministry of Education, Youth and Sports is analysed, as well as the individual attitudes, intentions and strategies of teachers. The thesis also analyses the opinions of students on multiculturalism and multicultural education.