

Annotation

Bachelor work is concerned with preventive activities in general practice for adults. This paper describes range of activities in the field of preventive care in general practice for adults - what is involved in preventive examination and what laws is it based on. This work lays emphasis on the engagement of nurses into preventive care, especially into education of patients. Every immediate finding of a disease affects considerably future quality of patient's life.