

Annotation

The thesis is deals with explanation of physiological puerperium process and points out risks of pathological puerperium. The main reference of this work is to refer to significance of nurse care of woman in puerperium in area of hygiene, clothing, boarding, medicine ingestion, exercising, relaxation and sleep but also advice in area of woman's sexuality. Empirical part o this work compares level of nurse care in puerperium department at maternity clinic in Hradec Králové in 1970s against present.