Annotation

This bachelor thesis presents information about standard hospice care, but it is mainly concentrated on the less known and less extended mobile hospice care. Text shows limits of this mobile care of dying people. Limits and limitations result from insufficient legislative conditions for the accompanying persons and from readiness and competence of the caregivers itself to accompany their cousins in the home environment. Research part of the thesis is based on the question-form investigation performing verification of the presumed limits and pointing to them. The first investigated data sample was collected on the bereaved persons of the patients hospitalized in the standard hospice in 2006. Second data sample is based on the bereaved persons, who used mobile hospice care in the same year. Two guided interviews with bereaveds are enclosed to illustrate the situation. Research was leaded in the cooperation with Hospic Anežky České (Hospice of the Anežka Česká) in the Červený Kostelec and Mobilní hospic Dobrého Pastýře (Mobile Hospice of the Good Pastor) in the Čerčany.
