This thesis –on Archimboldo – explores the possibilities of using the technique of collage in normal teaching in primary and secondary school.

The goal of the work is to introduce primary school students to the technique of collage and to awaken in them visual arts appreciation based on metaphorical thinking .

In each section a presentation is made on the work of famous painters in order to:

- awaken creativity and an ability to create in order to enable students to experience success with their own work
- teach critical thinking and self-reflection.
- become aware of the influences which motivated painters to create each work.

The practical section sets out tasks undertaken and based on their findings are recommendations on how they are to be put into practice.
