

This work aims to describe the philosophy of the education in the work of Comenius. Both the historical view and the meaning for today's world are mentioned. The work uses both primary and secondary literature. The philosophical way of thinking from pansofia to pampaedia and panorthosia is the central idea approached in this work. One of the conclusions of this work is the claim that the philosophy and pedagogy of Comenius are communicating vessels.