

Abstract: This work deals with the development of ornaments on Attic vases from Proto-Attic to red-figure periods. The author describes the various ornament found under the handles of vases or framing the main frames. Emphasis is places on following the current state of research of Attic ornament and possible sources for description of evolution of the certain types of ornamnent.