

Abstract

The work deals with the development of the relationship to the women's ordained ministry of women on the example of two churches. In the case of the Czech Brethren Evangelical Church, it describes process of searching, which ended after three decades with the approval of the women's ordinance. In the case of the Church of the Brethren, it deals with the existing statements on the women's ordained ministry and also with the attitude of the preachers of this church to the mentioned ministry.