In this work we study asymmetric games. Unlike symmetric matrix games, asymmetric games are not so easily categorized and therefore their research seems more interesting. We will present general cases of matrix games and make some statements about them. Next, we will focus on one specific type of asymmetric game and with the help of theoretical knowledge of ordinary differential equations, we derive its dynamics and properties.